

SENATOR DWORAK: So then there will be no economic advantage to passing this bill? There would be no savings?

SENATOR HASEBROOCK: Not any savings particularly, outside of the convenience. There would be quite a convenience and there would be quite a savings in time.

SPEAKER LUEDTKE: Senator Kremer, do you have anything to add to that?

SENATOR KREMER: Mr. Chairman and members of the Legislature. When the bill was heard before the Public Works Committee the statement was made by those supporting the bill that considerable time could be saved. To take a punch and to affix a number to a car, through the present method, is time consuming and there would be a saving with this stamp that would be affixed. It is almost indestructible, that was one thing that concerned the Committee, would the stamp that is affixed be nondestructible. The answer was practically so. It will take much less time, would cost less money, how much I do not know, that figure was not given us.

SPEAKER LUEDTKE: Senator Duis.

SENATOR DUIS: The question I have is who is this going to cost?

SPEAKER LUEDTKE: Do you propose a question, Senator Duis?

SENATOR DUIS: Yes.

SPEAKER LUEDTKE: Senator Hasebroock, would you answer that question.

SENATOR HASEBROOCK: There isn't any cost. I don't think there would be. It probably will be the individual that needs a new identification number. I think, primarily, this was done for identification numbers that were obliterated when cars are sold. I don't think there will be a great deal of cost.

SENATOR DUIS: Whose responsibility would it be that this number be affixed to the vehicle?

SENATOR HASEBROOCK: It would be the individuals responsibility.

SENATOR DUIS: I don't believe that that would be real proper that the individual be responsible when there already is an identification number on the vehicle.

SENATOR HASEBROOCK: It doesn't change the present system at all. The only thing that it changes, Senator Duis, is changing it from the stenciling with the punch type to an identification sticker. There is no change in the law, none whatever.

SENATOR DUIS: You mean then that every individual will have to affix a number to his vehicle.
